

PRZEMYSL RECAPTURED BY AUSTRO-GERMANS

Russians Lose Stronghold Taken by Them From Austrians in March

LOSS OF BESIEGERS SAID TO BE FRIGHTFUL

Troops of Austrian and German Armies March Upon City in Double Column and are Mowed Down by Russians

(By United Press)

London, June 3.—It has been reported here that the Austro-German forces have recaptured Przemyśl. This has been one of the great centres of the conflict since Russia began her bombardment of the outer forts on September 16 and forced the Austrians to surrender on March 22 at which time the Russian war office announced that 117,000 Austrians had been taken prisoners.

Recent reports of the Austro-German operations near there indicated a probable fall. Earlier dispatches reaching here admitted that Russia's hold on Przemyśl was slowly loosening and that the Slavs 60 miles south of there, had been badly defeated.

Austro-German Loss Frightful
Dispatches from Petrograd today say Przemyśl has been bombarded by huge 16 inch Austro-German siege guns and others of great size. The war office admitted in an early statement that a number of Russia's heavy guns had been taken. Germany used the same tactics as in her advance in Belgium, marching in double column in double quick time until within a few hundred yards of the city. The Austro-German loss is frightful, Petrograd dispatches say.

Captured This Morning
Vienna, via Amsterdam, June 3.—Przemyśl fell before the triumphant army of General Mackensen at 3:30 this morning. Many prisoners, machine guns and supplies were captured. The main body of the Russian army is reported to be fleeing eastward.

The terrible bombardment of the 42 centimeter guns broke the northern walls, through which the Russians started to escape. The cavaliers are in pursuit. Capture of Galicia forces gave Gen. Mackensen possession of the Jeriskaw-Lemberg railway running southward to the Carpathians.

An estimate of prisoners is not given, but the loss on both sides is appalling.

President Warns Mexico to End the Revolutions

Washington, June 3.—President Wilson yesterday served notice on warring leaders in Mexico that they must compose their difference "within a very short time" by setting up a government that the world may in conscience recognize, or the United States will be constrained to take steps to "help Mexico save herself and serve her people."

There was no direct threat of armed intervention in the president's declaration, but it is generally recognized that extreme measures of this character may ultimately be necessary to accomplish the president's purpose.

Local Italians Eager to Join Regiments

Four young Italians of Clearfield have applied to the Italian consul at Altoona for transportation to Italy to join regiments at the front. All of them are reservists, the youngest being of the class of 1915, and therefore just 21 years of age.

These young men applied for enlistment through Sam Toney, leader of the Clearfield Italian colony, and have been instructed by the consul to report to only later in the week for their tickets.

It is reported that for the present none of the Italians of Clearfield will offer their services, although many of them are subject to call to the colors should more men be needed at a later date in the war, and are holding themselves in readiness to answer should the reservists of their class be called out. None of these, however, are naturalized citizens.

KING GEORGE OF ENGLAND

Ruler of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India, Who Passes the Half Century Mark in Life's Pathway Today.

King George's 50th Birthday Observed

H. R. H. George V, "by the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions Beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India," will pass the half-century mark today, and his birthday will be celebrated throughout that mighty empire over which the Union Jack flaunts its folds and the sun never sets. The British monarch was born June 3, 1865, and he has now occupied the throne a little more than five years. His reign will go down in history as the most momentous in British history, because of the great war now raging, but in this conflict the king, unlike the Kaiser, his cousin, has played but a minor role.

Although he received a thorough naval training, King George has never made any pretense of superior knowledge of the art of warfare, and those charged with the protection of Great Britain have not had to deal with royal interference.

King George's blood is largely German. The House of Hanover, in the person of George I., elector of Hanover, gained the English throne two centuries ago. The crown passed to the German house in the absence of heirs to Queen Anne, the last of the Stuart dynasty.

SMASHING RECORDS

If the Progress boys are a trifle "green" at their collection jobs Saturday, may we speak for them your indulgence? It is their first venture into this sort of thing, and some of them are afraid they will not get things right.

That the plan is working out to the benefit of subscribers is evidenced by the fact that we have had but two delivery complaints in the two weeks the youngsters have been preparing for their new duties—the cleanest delivery record ever shown by The Progress. They will smash this record, too, or we have sadly miscalculated their interest in their new jobs.

New Baggage Rules Are Now In Effect

The Cummins amendment of the interstate commerce law went into effect yesterday on all railroads in this territory the principle feature of which to be noticed by travelers will be a new regulation of checking baggage. Hereafter the passenger will be required to sign a "declaration of value" blank before baggage will be accepted for interstate shipment. The declaration will state that the baggage is valued at an amount designated by the passenger.

Provided it weighs within the free allowance of limit, 150 pounds, and is in accordance with the rules of what constitutes baggage, if a value of $100 or less is placed on it, no charge will be made. If, however, the traveler values his possessions at more than $100, a charge of 10 cents for each additional $100 of value or fraction thereof will be made. The declaration blanks will be distributed to ticket agents on all lines during the next day or two. The blanks can be signed by the passenger while the baggage agent is making up the attaching check so that the passenger who arrives with but a few minutes until his train will not be greatly inconvenienced.

GRADUATES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Commencement Exercises Held in Opera House

ORATORY AND MUSIC

Subjects Chosen by The Satisfactorian and Valuable Timely and Interesting

Miss Inez Wood and Cecil Reed acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner—President Bigler, of the Board of Education, Gracefully Presented the Commencement Speeches to the Students—The Phillips, of Bucknell, Gave the Class Some Excellent Advice.

Another chapter in the history of the Clearfield high school was finished last evening when the 38 members of the graduating class received their diplomas from the president of the board of education, Albert D. Bigler. After a good, healthy yell from the class of 1916, a selection from the orchestra began the program. The invocation was pronounced by Dr. C. C. Reeve, which was followed by the entire class singing the "Benedictus from Lucia."

Cecil Reed, who had the honor of being salutatorian for his class, also delivered an oration on the present pressing subject of a "Workman's Compensation Law." His oration, which had been thoroughly thought out, was delivered in a very creditable manner.

"Our National Defense," by John Graham, was an argument in which he sought to prove that the country is not in as dangerous a condition at present as the pessimistic critics would make it appear and he declared that great armament in the army and navy would only tend to "make" more liable to be drawn into a war, citing the present great conflict in Europe as an example.

The class then sang, "The British Chorus." Miss Inez Wood, the valedictorian, delivered an interesting oration, the subject of which was, "The Power of Work." As valedictorian of her class she offered a very tender tribute to their parents, members of the board of education, teachers and schoolmates.

A. D. Bigler, in behalf of the board of education, congratulated the class on its completion of its school work here, leaving with the students some of the aims and ambitions they should have in their future work, and formally presented the members of the class with their diplomas.

A very pretty song, "Hedding March," was next sung by the class. John M. Chase, in a very original and eloquent address, delivered the time honored "Mantle Oration," which was equally well responded to by the president of the junior class, Howard Stewart.

Supt. Zerfoss then introduced Dr. Llewellyn Phillips, of Bucknell University, who addressed the graduates. Dr. Phillips, who is a forceful and inspiring speaker, after expressing his pleasure in being here talked about "The World We Live In." He expressed the need of a larger vision by the people and said that they should not allow their minds to become narrow and contracted because of their immediate environment, but that it should be the aim of all to look beyond the things that can be seen into the things that cannot be viewed.

Benediction was pronounced by Dr. Reeve.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers
you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys
and irritate the entire urinary tract.
Keep your kidneys clean like you
keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts
which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 gallons of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance
of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad
Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass
of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with NaHCO₃, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also
to neutralize the acids in urine so
it no longer is a source of irritation,
thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; carried in jars; makes a delicious effervescent
drink; water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. They also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

PRZEMYSL RECAPTURED BY AUSTRO-GERMANS

Russians Lose Stronghold Taken by Them From Austrians in March

LOSS OF BESIEGERS SAID TO BE FRIGHTFUL

Troops of Austrian and German Armies March Upon City in Double Column and are Mowed Down by Russians

(By United Press)

London June 3.—It has been reported here that the Austro-German forces have recaptured Przemyśl. This has been one of the great centres of the conflict since Russia began her bombardment of the outer forts on September 16 and forced the Austrians to surrender on March 22 at which time the Russian war office announced that 117,000 Austrians had been taken prisoners.

Recent reports of the Austro-German operations near there indicated a probable fall. Earlier dispatches reaching here admitted that Russia's hold on Przemyśl was slowly loosening and that the Slavs 60 miles south of there, had been badly defeated.

Austro-German Loss Frightful
Dispatches from Petrograd today say Przemyśl has been recaptured by huge 16 inch Austro-German siege guns and others of great size. The war office admitted in an early statement that a number of Russia's heavy guns had been taken. Germany used the same tactics as in her advance in Belgium, marching in double column in double quick time until within a few hundred yards of the city. The Austro-German loss is frightful, Petrograd dispatches say.

Captured This Morning
Vienna, via Amsterdam, June 3.—Przemyśl fell before the triumphant army of General Mackensen at 3:30 this morning. Many prisoners, machine guns and supplies were captured. The main body of the Russian army is reported to be fleeing eastward.

The terrible bombardment of the 42 centimeter guns broke the northern walls, through which the Russians started to escape. The cavaliers are in pursuit. Capture of Galicia forces gave Gen. Mackensen possession of the Jeriskaw-Lemberg railway running southward to the Carpathians.

An estimate of prisoners is not given, but the loss on both sides is appalling.

President Warns Mexico to End the Revolutions

Washington, June 3.—President Wilson yesterday served notice on warring leaders in Mexico that they must compose their difference "within a very short time" by setting up a government that the world may in conscience recognize, or the United States will be constrained to take steps to "help Mexico save herself and serve her people."

There was no direct threat of armed intervention in the president's declaration, but it is generally recognized that extreme measures of this character may ultimately be necessary to accomplish the president's purpose.

Local Italians Eager to Join Regiments

Four young Italians of Clearfield have applied to the Italian consul at Altoona for transportation to Italy to join regiments at the front. All of them are reservists, the youngest being just 21 years of age.

These young men applied for enlistment through Sam Toney, leader of the Clearfield Italian colony, and have been instructed by the consul to report to only later in the week for their tickets.

It is reported that for the present none of the Italians of Clearfield will offer their services, although many of them are subject to call to the colors should more men be needed at a later date in the war, and are holding themselves in readiness to answer should the reservists of their class be called out. None of these, however, are naturalized citizens.

KING GEORGE OF ENGLAND

Ruler of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India, Who Passes the Half Century Mark in Life's Pathway Today.

King George's 50th Birthday Observed

H. R. H. George V, "by the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions Beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India," will pass the half-century mark today, and his birthday will be celebrated throughout that mighty empire over which the Union Jack flaunts its folds and the sun never sets. The British monarch was born June 3, 1865, and he has now occupied the throne a little more than five years. His reign will go down in history as the most momentous in British history, because of the great war now raging, but in this conflict the king, unlike the Kaiser, his cousin, has played but a minor role.

Although he received a thorough naval training, King George has never made any pretense of superior knowledge of the art of warfare, and those charged with the protection of Great Britain have not had to deal with royal interference.

King George's blood is largely German. The House of Hanover, in the person of George I., elector of Hanover, gained the English throne two centuries ago. The crown passed to the German house in the absence of heirs to Queen Anne, the last of the Stuart dynasty.

SMASHING RECORDS

If the Progress boys are a trifle "green" at their collection jobs Saturday, may we speak for them your indulgence? It is their first venture into this sort of thing, and some of them are afraid they will not get things right.

That the plan is working out to the benefit of subscribers is evidenced by the fact that we have had but two delivery complaints in the two weeks the youngsters have been preparing for their new duties—the cleanest delivery record ever shown by The Progress. They will smash this record, too, or we have sadly miscalculated their interest in their new jobs.

New Baggage Rules Are Now In Effect

The Cummins amendment of the interstate commerce law went into effect yesterday on all railroads in this territory the principle feature of which to be noticed by travelers will be a new regulation of checking baggage. Hereafter the passenger will be required to sign a "declaration of value" blank before baggage will be accepted for interstate shipment. The declaration will state that the baggage is valued at an amount designated by the passenger.

Provided it weighs within the free allowance of limit, 150 pounds, and is in accordance with the rules of what constitutes baggage, if a value of $100 or less is placed on it, no charge will be made. If, however, the traveler values his possessions at more than $100, a charge of 10 cents for each additional $100 of value or fraction thereof will be made. The declaration blanks will be distributed to ticket agents on all lines during the next day or two. The blanks can be signed by the passenger while the baggage agent is making up the attaching check so that the passenger who arrives with but a few minutes until his train will not be greatly inconvenienced.

GRADUATES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Commencement Exercises Held in Opera House

ORATORY AND MUSIC

Subjects Chosen by The Satisfactorian and Valuable Timely and Interesting

Miss Inez Wood and Cecil Reed acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner—President Bigler, of the Board of Education, Gracefully Presented the Commencement Speeches to the Students—Mr. Phillips, of Bucknell, Gave the Class Some Excellent Advice.

Another chapter in the history of the Clearfield high school was finished last evening when the 38 members of the graduating class received their diplomas from the president of the board of education, Albert D. Bigler. After a good, healthy yell from the class of 1916, a selection from the orchestra began the program. The invocation was pronounced by Dr. C. C. Reeve, which was followed by the entire class singing the "Benedictus from Lucia."

Cecil Reed, who had the honor of being salutatorian for his class, also delivered an oration on the present pressing subject of a "Workman's Compensation Law." His oration, which had been thoroughly thought out, was delivered in a very creditable manner.

"Our National Defenses," by John Graham, was an argument in which he sought to prove that the country is not in as dangerous a condition at present as the pessimistic critics would make it appear and he designed that great oration in the army and navy would only tend to "make" more liable to be drawn into a war, citing the present great conflict in Europe as an example. The class then sang, "The British Chorus."

Miss Inez Wood, the valedictorian, delivered an interesting oration, the subject of which was, "The Power of Work." As valedictorian of her class she offered a very tender tribute to their parents, members of the board of education, teachers and schoolmates.

A. D. Bigler, in behalf of the board of education, congratulated the class on its completion of its school work here, leaving with the students some of the aims and ambitions they should have in their future work, and formally presented the members of the class with their diplomas.

A very pretty song, "Hedding March," was next sung by the class. John M. Chase, in a very original and eloquent address, delivered the time honored "Mantle Oration," which was equally well responded to by the president of the junior class, Howard Stewart.

Supt. Zerfoss then introduced Dr. Llewellyn Phillips, of Bucknell University, who addressed the graduates. Dr. Phillips, who is a forceful and inspiring speaker, after expressing his pleasure in being here talked over "The World We Live In." He expressed the need of a larger vision by the people and said that they should not allow their minds to become narrow and contracted because of their immediate environment, but that it should be the aim of all to look beyond the things that can be seen into the things that cannot be viewed. Benediction was pronounced by Dr. Reeve.

THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 3, 1915

Good evening! We borrow this from an unknown bard:

Between the optimist and pessimist
There is a difference that is droll.
The optimist sees the doughnut
And the pessimist sees the hole."

It is easier to fan the patient than to fan the patient.

Great Britain still clings to the idea that the soldiers of France, Belgium, Russia and Italy are perfectly willing to die on the battlefield that England may survive.

Each year sees a diminution in the number of veterans of the civil war; which fact should cause the people to treat with increasing honor those who still survive that great conflict.

President Wilson can have no doubt as to the sentiment of the American people relative to Germany's course in the Lusitania affair, and if he will be firm with the Berlin government he will be supported by the people of this country.

TEACHING CONVICTS AGRICULTURE

The announcement that forty convicts in the Eastern penitentiary are studying agriculture by correspondence with the Pennsylvania State college should arouse more than passing notice. It is reported that these convicts are making rapid progress, thus indicating not only that they are above the average of the prisoners in the penitentiary, but are actuated by a desire to have something more than their past record to contemplate after they are released from prison.

Rapid progress has been made in the last decade in the sentiment of the American people toward the care and treatment of persons who are confined in penal institutions, and while much still remains to be done in prison reform it is gratifying to learn that the condition of the unfortunates behind prison bars is constantly improving. State college has opened possibilities in advancement to the wearer of stripes, and the prisoners themselves are displaying a readiness to adopt an honest calling which gives promise of their being followed by many more of their number as the years pass.

Men and boys who are in prison find it difficult to put in their time and are glad to have something with which they may while away their idle hours. The course of agriculture provided by State college naturally appeals to the convict as a means of occupying his mind. The avidity with which the suggestion of the college that the prisoners take instruction in agriculture was seized upon by the forty prisoners in the Eastern penitentiary is very encouraging, and when this scheme is introduced into other penal institutions it is expected that hundreds of the unfortunate men will gladly enroll as students in the college agricultural courses.

TO THE CLASS OF 1915

From time beyond the memory of man it has been customary for newspapers to hand out advice to the graduates of the common schools and colleges. The Progress has no intention of violating this well-worn custom, and desires to say a few words of praise and give a few paragraphs of counsel which the class of 1915 may assimilate, if its members feel so inclined.

This world is large. It reached the limit of its extension geographically many ages ago. There are many people in this world, and the population of its various sections is constantly increasing, although this increase of population will be suspended as a result of the imaginary conflict now progressing in Europe. The world was well made. You cannot improve the physical map of the globe.

Your position as units in the mass of humanity which numbers this earth will be important or inconsequent, according to your own exertions and ability. Your educational attainments will avail you naught in the struggle up the ladder of fame or the hill of success unless you are possessed of grit to overcome all obstacles, intelligence to seize opportunities of the right kind and a determination to regard yourself, not as a schemer, but as one who is willing to sit at the feet of knowledge and heed the words of counsel and wisdom born of broad experience, and many heart-breaking encounters with the thing called life. The world is wide and there is room for you in it. You may now view it through eyes which look for the beautiful and the pleasant. Don't be discouraged if, in your venture into the realm of inexorable reality, you are rudely awakened to the realization that if you want what the living world owes you you will have to work for it. Don't be dismayed if relics of shattered hopes and vain ambition strew your pathway. You yourself must fight your own battles, and the successes of others are mere guideposts to lead you to the ultimate goal.

You are young and sanguine. Keep on being hopeful; youth is fleeting and its illusions pass quickly. You may not make the world better, but you can strive to do so. Your eye is on the top rung of the ladder, and it will do no harm to keep it there. But do not forget that there are others who are ambitious to climb to the top and that if you wish to reach the goal you must do something more than dream.

The world welcomes you. It will make a way for you and help you if you show your appreciation of its efforts. Don't despise the world and imagine that you could have made a better one. Other graduates have thought so, but after many years of contact with those who make up the world they have come to the conclusion that it were better to make an honest living than to try to improve on a pretty good job. The world and the fullness thereof is before you; feel kindly toward it; deal gently with it, for it will be your habitat for the length of time in which you shall sojourn on this terrestrial globe.

Ten Bills Are Vetoed By Governor Brumbaugh

Governor Brumbaugh has vetoed ten bills and approved a large number. Among the measures vetoed were the following:

Providing that municipalities shall pay all damages in the matter of street and highway improvement. The governor says the bill would make the taxpayers of a borough liable for damages which they did not authorize.

An act fixing the width of sidewalks along public highways. The governor says the bill is arbitrary and rigid and would mean a death blow to local initiative and a sore stricture upon shade trees.

An act relating to the acquisition of land for township high school purposes. The bill promises to give authority to township school boards to acquire land in a contiguous borough or city for the purpose of erecting a high school. The governor says the school code now provides a better and less expensive way of educating pupils of high school grade in townships.

An act giving the state health commissioner the right to lease a right of way through state lands in Cresson township, Cambria county. The governor says: "It is doubtful procedure to allow private or corporate interests to secure the sanction of the state for a purpose wholly advantageous to them and not at all to the advantage of the people."

The bill to validate certain sales of and titles to unseated lands sold for non-payment of taxes is vetoed, the governor asking:

"Why should property be sold for taxes if no lien is filed? When an official fails to enter lien the official should be disciplined by law, but law should not be worked to relieve him from paying the penalty of his official carelessness."

The governor thinks even a legislative act could not validate such sales. Among the bills approved were the following:

Validating annexations and extensions of the limits of boroughs and incorporated towns made prior to April 22, 1913.

Fixing the number and salaries of the engineers and attaches of the engineer's division of the state highway department.

Making incompatible the offices of councilmen and school directors.

Relating to the granting of patents on unpatented lands.

Relating to the duties of registrars for the coming elections.

Relating to the adoption of children of drunks of profligate husbands or wives.

Providing for creation and regulation of liens for curbing in boroughs.

Amending property tax lien law of counties, cities and boroughs.

Amending act of 1907 relating to appointment of court stenographers and regulating salary instead of per diem pay.

Providing for the reporting, quarantining and control of certain communicable diseases.

Permitting state to intervene in any legal proceeding in which it may have an interest without giving security.

Requiring all state officials and employees who handle public money to give bond.

Requiring prothonotaries to provide and ad locum judgement index and fixing fee at 25 cents.

Granting graduates in pharmacy of other countries and state licenses to practice in this state where same privileges are extended to graduates of Pennsylvania colleges.

To protect public health by regulating manufacture, preparation, handling, storage, sale, transportation and possession of meat and food products through supervision of state live stock sanitary board.

PEACE WITH HONOR

We are for peace! We have no lust For blood, for spoil beyond our gate,
For shrapnel-burst and bayonet-thrust
And all the savage arts of hate.

Yet we recall with love and pride
Our dead of fifty years ago
Who fought on gory fields and died
That we might have the peace we know.

How do we keep the faith with those Who watch us from beyond the grave,
If, sunk in sloth and greed, we pose
As careless of the gift they gave?

Blood was their gift, and cruel death!
Brave warriors of the blue and gray,
Sleep on! The God of Battles saith
Time shall not take your fame away.

O sons and grandsons of such sires,
Be not a craven, helpless horde;
Freedom has still her bivouac fires,
And just ice holds the unsheathed sword.

To arms! To arms! Be men of might!
Peace, Peace! But let us walk erect,
For selfish gain too proud to fight,
Yet not too proud for self-respect.

Shame on the spineless crew whose sneer
Would wither courage at the seed
We reap the stench that will not fade.

To arms, our country at her need,
Let us have peace, let us have peace,
Our duty calls for arms, for arms,
Above the sacred fields where sleep
The heroes of a nation and a land.

FULL ACCOUNT OF 100 HENS

Woman Gives Her Experience With Flock of Mixed Fowls—Profit for Year Was $103.

Many statements are made as to the profits in the poultry business, but few of them give much real light as they are seldom complete. All give a statement of receipts, but few say anything about cost or expense of production, which leaves one in the dark as to what can or cannot be made in the business. Here is a statement of the experience of a lady who writes to an agricultural paper of the Southwest, with 100 hens, some White Leghorns, Black Minorcas and Rhode Island Reds, all ranging together:

Expenses:
100 hens at 50 cents..... $ 50.00
4 cocks at 50 cents..... 2.00
Feed 125.40
Eggs for hatching 5.25
Total $182.65

Credit:
844 dozen eggs sold $209.35
Chickens sold 18.15
Chickens on hand 59.00
Total $286.50
Profit for year $103.85

The hens averaged 113 eggs each that brought an average price of 25 cents a dozen.

COW MUST BE COMFORTABLE

Fact Must Be Borne In Mind In Construction of Stalls, Stanchions and Mangers in Barns.

(By W. D. NICHOLS.)

The fact that the cow must be comfortable must be borne in mind in the construction of stalls, stanchions and mangers in dairy barns. Usually, too little thought is given to the construction of dairy buildings, and many mistakes are made which are not discovered until it is too late to correct them. By careful planning and study, the cow's health and comfort may be promoted, and the results quickly show in the increased profits from the business.

Take, for instance, the item of stanchions and stalls. Many patent stanchions and stalls have been placed upon the market and some of these possess points of merit. The principal objection to them is their expensive-ness. Many of them sell at from $5 to $10 each.

While this patented equipment adds to the neatness and beauty of the interior of the stable, it is by no means indispensable.

A simple chain tie costing 20 cents is just as comfortable for the cows and will answer all practical purposes. Such a tie should appeal to those who are just beginning in the dairy business and do not wish to incur the heavy expense of installing high priced equipment.

The old style rigid stanchion is still used by many dairies, and their use indicates little or no bad effects resulting from their use, but undoubtedly swinging stanchions are more comfortable, and are greatly to be preferred.

The Kentucky experiment station uses a most excellent stanchion, without the iron framework. These can be purchased for about $1.35 each and can be hung in a home-constructed wooden frame with entirely satisfactory results and at low cost.

CORRECT SETTING OF TREES

Nurseryman Gets Big End of Blame for Losses—Great Care Must Be Exercised by Buyer.

One has but to become a fruit tree agent in order to realize what a very small percentage of the trees set out every spring survive, even through the first season. The nurserymen get the big end of the blame for these losses, when it is more often the fault of the party who sets out the tree.

Great care must be exercised in handling trees that are to be planted, or set out. The packing should not be removed from around them till one is ready to set them out or level them in, as it takes but a very short time for exposure to sun and wind to ruin the roots. If for any reason the trees have been unpacked or the packing seems inefficient, the trees may be carefully removed and heeled in. This is accomplished by placing the trees on a slightly sloping spot, a shallow trench being dug for the roots. Place the trees in thin layers, covering them well above the roots with moist earth. A thin cloth or layer of straw over the branches for the first day will furnish protection from sudden exposure to the sun after the trees have been confined in the shade so long.

Nassau Tires
"All-Mighty Tough"

Just consider a non-skid tire with knobs. You know how the knobs must poke into the fabric when the car is running or standing on them. Nassau Tires have depressions with sharp, biting angles instead of knobs. They prevent side slipping—which is the beginning of all skidding. These depressions hold the road, don't poke dents in the fabric, and don't retard progress of car. That's "Surplus Service." Drop in for a Booklet we want to give you.

schools should take the examination at the close of their schools. Persons attending school outside of the certificates the examination in pedagstitute for the latter.

Each applicant on entering the class

his or her moral character.

Teachers whose certificates average 1-1-4 and who present testimonials

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers
you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your
back feels sore, don't get scared and
proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys
and irritate the entire urinary tract.
Keep your kidneys clean like you
keep your bowels clean, by flushing
them with a mild, harmless salts
which removes the body's urinous
waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 gallons of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance
of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't
drink too much; also get from any
pharmacist about four ounces of Jad
Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass
of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys
will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and
lemon juice, combined with NaHCO₃, and
has been used for generations to clean
and stimulate clogged kidneys; also
to neutralize the acids in urine so
it no longer is a source of irritation,
thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; carried in
jars; makes a delicious effervescent
drink; water drink which everyone
should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

BIGLER

Bigler, May 31.—Bigler celebrated Decoration Day on Monday, May 31st by playing two games of ball here and won them both.

The morning game with Blue Ball was a battle between Isenberg and Lupton, the former having the best of the struggle, striking out 17 men and allowing only 2 hits.

Bigler won the afternoon game 6 to 5, batting Liget out of the box in the fifth inning and hitting Waites hard also.

The features of the game were the pitching of Isenberg and the three base drive of C. Rougeux.

Suppose We Pared These Tires

Suppose this All-Weather tread —now double-thick—was pared to the thinness of the usual antiskid. Would it endure like this one? Or so resist puncture?

Suppose we used—as some do —one less fabric ply. Or made the whole tire lighter. Suppose we omitted our exclusive features:

Our No-Rim-Cut feature—
Our "On-Air" cure—
Our rubber rivets—
Our 128-plane-wire base.

All rivals do omit them. All of them are costly. Our "On-Air" cure alone costs us $450,000

Live Wire on State Street
A live electric light wire fell on State street, in front of the residence of Dr. H. O. King, yesterday morning. The Penn Public Service company was notified and C. W. Fisher, of the Curwensville office, soon had several men at work repairing the damage. Much trouble was experienced by the workmen on account of the thick foliage of the trees on this part of the street. All business places on State street, between Thompson and Filbert streets, on account of the gloominess of the day, missed the much needed light, which was turned on about noon.

A. Z. Wolf, Jr., spent yesterday in Clearfield and Woodland.

Mrs. S. C. Wilson is rejoicing over the advent of a new granddaughter, Sue Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wilson, of DuBois. Sue Louise was born on the 25th of May, thus on the ninth birthday of her brother, Mrs. Wilson, who is county president of the W. C. T. U. returned to Curwensville Tuesday after ten days of Thomas More former county supervisor, is eighty years old today. Mr. Moore is able to be around the house, although his health has not been good for several years, and still gets many pleasures out of the world.

Ponce de Leon Failed; His Prize Is Found

Ponce de Leon, the daring explorer, searched among the swamps of Florida for the Fountain of Youth, which the Indians said would restore power and make people young. He did not find it. Thousands of chronic intestinal, bowel and stomach sufferers have written to Gen. H. Mayr, 154 Whiting St., Chicago, in quest of health. They have found it. His remedy, composed of healing vegetable oils from France, has indeed given them back the health of youth. Why suffer from indigestion, gases on the stomach, fainting spells, torpid liver, constipation and all the evils of a disordered stomach when there is permanent relief here? Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

"The Thinkers of the Country Are the Tobacco Chewers" said one of the greatest thinkers this country ever produced.

Says the Farmer:

"When a man asks me what I'll take for my cotton I don't even begin to figure until I've had a chew of PICNIC TWIST."

"When your answer means something, it's then you want something to help you to do some quick, clear, sure thinking before you say anything."

Last year the farmers made $9,000,000,000 worth of crops. They did some thinking, and PICNIC TWIST helped.

Do you want a tobacco that will give you the "punch" today without the "bump" tomorrow? Then try PICNIC TWIST.

DIAMOND NOTES

Jack Fournier is making good as a pinch hitter.

Ban Johnson has pledged the American league clubs to play faster baseball.

Ed Walsh, the Big Moose, is "coming back," according to information from the Pacific coast.

Grover Alexander, like his great-grandpaw, seems to long for more worlds to conquer.

Lefty Leifeld, formerly a Cub pitcher, has joined the St. Paul team of the American association.

Ty Cobb favors woman's suffrage. It's now up to Mrs. Rankin to observe that baseball is glorified rounders.

Joe Jackson has been starring all winter with "Joe Jackson's Winning Girls." This summer he may star with the Losing Boys.

Goro Mikanie, the Jap, who was recently elected captain of the baseball nine at Knox college, is one of the most popular men in the school.

Jawn McGraw evidently realizes at last that while three hunks of Roquefort may beat a brick of Camembert, it takes porthouse steak to win.

Marty Kavanagh, who is playing first base for Detroit, holds the championship of the American league for being the homeliest man in the circuit.

Pitcher McConnell, now with the Chicago Cubs, learned the art of poker while with the Cubs on the spring training trip, and is a regular at the evening sessions.

Eddie Collins is growing in favor with the fans every day. He pulls a wonderful stunt every afternoon and oftentimes his clever work turns the tide in the right way.

The Brooklynans are slow on the bases. If manager Wilbert-Robinson wants his team to occupy a respectable position in the pennant race he will have to develop more speed in his men while on the bases.

NEW IN NAVAL CONSTRUCTION

Three-Gun Turret, Recently Placed on American Ships, is an Innovation of Unknown Quality.

Our new battleships Nevada and Oklahoma with their three-gun turrets may be the forerunners of a radical change in the methods of big-gun distribution on our super-dreadnaughts—unless, indeed, the super-dreadnaught itself is to be driven to the scrap heap by the submarine. The new vessels carry ten 14-inch guns—three each in a bow and stern turret, and two each in two midship turrets raised sufficiently so their guns may be trained over the three-gun turrets. They can thus discharge an "en-bataille" fire of five 14-inch guns either ahead or astern.

Italy and Austria each has at least one three-gun turret ship, and France is to try a turret carrying four guns. Up to date, however, there seems to have been no really thorough test of either of these arrangements. The chief advantage claimed for this concentration of big guns appears to be the concentration of fire resulting from it. Some naval constructors question the practicability of keeping these new "deck-forts" in good working condition, under the enormous shocks and strains produced by their mammoth broadsides. There is also some claim of the policy of putting so many eggs in one basket. Two disabled turrets on the Nevada will put six instead of four guns out of commission.

TROUBLED BY VIVID DREAMS

Soldiers on Service in the Trenches Are Greatly Affected by Their Terrible Experiences.

Naturally enough the normal dream life of the soldier is profoundly affected by his novel and oftentimes terrible experiences at the front. A British army surgeon in charge of one of the field hospitals has taken the trouble to make inquiries of his patients regarding their dreams. Some of them had developed somnambulism and were often found wandering about in their sleep with great faces. The explanation usually lay in a dream that they had lost their regiments. In fact, this dream of losing contact with their fellows seemed to be the commonest cause of nightmare. They dreamed they were wandering through endless trenches as complicated as an artificial maze, or were lost alone in dismal forests. The slightest noise during sleep called up visions of exploding shells or the tramp of armed men, often causing them to cry out in fright. In the face of real danger these dreamers of terror were quite as brave as their fellows. Another common night-terror was the dream of a sudden call to arms to which they were unable to respond because of inability to find some indispensable article of attire or equipment.

Hatch Pullets Early.
If the farmer wishes to benefit by the high prices that eggs are certain to bring next fall and winter, he should begin to get ready for them at once, say the poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture. The way to have eggs late in the year is to hatch early. It is the early-hatchers from which the early pullets are derived that are the largest money-makers for the poultry producer. The early hatched cockerels can be marketed in almost any market in America when they attain a weight of three-fourths of a pound to a pound and a half each, which they should reach in about six to ten weeks of age, respectively, at a greater profit than at any other time of their lives. The early hatched pullets, if properly grown, should begin to lay in the fall at the time when eggs are scarce and high in price.

Not Too Well Rewarded.
The fact that the annual receipts from cinematograph shows in the United States amount to $150,000,000 prompts the recollection that Muybridge, whose experiments in the instantaneous photography of animal locomotion helped to pave the way for moving pictures, received support in the shape of university grants to the tune of $40,000, or not much more than one-fourth-thousandth part of what the moving picture business in the states is bringing in every year. The London, England, photographer who actually invented the moving picture lantern, received nothing for his discovery.
